Sneaky's Adventure

One morning Sneaky the Squirrel woke up to find icicles hanging from his tree and snow falling. He felt cold and hungry. He checked his cache but found nothing to eat.
Suddenly, he heard a car start. He felt curious so he scurried to the car. He saw a GPS unit with directions to Florida. He'd always wanted to go to Florida!
Excitedly, Sneaky jumped into a bag with beach towels. It was so comfortable that he fell asleep. When Sneaky woke up, he looked out of the bag and saw a palm tree.
He was in Florida. When the car door opened, he jumped out of the bag and onto the street. He saw a park across the street and ran over.
Sneaky spotted a tree with a perfect hole for him to move in. From there, he could see the ocean! He was hungry, so he ran down his tree to look for nuts.
He noticed another squirrel was running down a different tree at the same time.

“Hi,” said Sneaky.
“Hi,” said the other squirrel. “What’s your name?”

“Sneaky,” he said.

“What’s your name?”

“Sammy. Want me to show you my favorite...”
places to find food?

"Sure," Sneaky said. They shared a snack, and got to know each other until dark.

"See you tomorrow," said Sneaky.
Sneaky went back to his tree and laid down. He could hear the ocean and feel a warm breeze. Sneaky felt very happy to be in...
this beautiful place.
