

Nature's Art: A series of haikus
By: Libby Howard

Admire outdoors
Watch its inhabitants fly
Spreading colored wings

They fly, fly away
Colored plumes and tails bobble
Colors in the wind

Birds enchant viewers
Everyone's eyes sparkling
As art flies away

Listen to their calls
The best kind of symphony
Musical notes spread

Soaring in the sky
Chirping as they fly away
Tunes like no other

Perching on the trees
Singing tunes like no other
Nature is beauty
